BIOGRAPHY

After graduating from Manchester Metropolitan University, Tim's career in animation started as a director of photography for Cosgrove Hall working on the animated series Lavender Castle for Gerry Anderson (BBC Television), and Jill Barlem's "Brambly Hedge" (BBC Television).

His directorial debut came in 2000, on the series Rotten Ralph for the BBC and Fox US, netting 2 BAFTA nominations. Further series included Andy Pandy, Little Robots, Fifi and the Flowertots, Roary the Racing Car, Raa Raa the Noisy Lion, Cloudbabies, Lily's Driftwood Bay, Claude, and most recently Yukee. Broadcasters have included Disney, BBC, Channel 5, Fox US, PBS, ABC, and Nickelodeon to name a few. He was also approached to direct the highly acclaimed Peter Kay's Animated All Star Band for the BBC Children in Need appeal, which reached number one in the official singles chart for two weeks.

Tim has just completed the feature film Ozi: Voice of the Forest, produced by Leonardo DiCaprio, Mike Medavoy (Shutter Island, Black Swan) and Keith Chapman (creator of Paw Patrol, Bob the Builder). The film was released in UK cinemas in 2024, with global release in 2025.

Awards and nominations include an International Emmy nomination, 4 BAFTA nominations, an Irish Film and Television Academy Award, 2 Royal Television Awards and multiple Royal Television Society Award nominations, a Silver Hugo, an Irish Animation Award, an IFTA nomination, Broadcast Award nominations, British Animation Award nominations, Annecy nominations, and 3 Pulcinella nominations.
